

NAKED!!!

How's that for being politically incorrect? Discusting right, but that's what God allowed to be done to His only begotten Son, for your sake!

The cross was not only the most painful, slow and agonizing form of death ever devised but also the most publicly humiliating and fear producing. It is still the preferred method used by Muslims to this day and second only to chopping off someones head with ISSIS.

Although far bloodier and visually more horrifying it is quicker, less painful and more humane than crucifixion. Those who have personally witnessed both would chose beheading anyday. Crucifixion is the ultimate form of torture, humiliation and death.

Do you not see the irony on the world stage? Do you not recognize the obvious? The very brother of Issac, Ishmael, is the father of the Islamic religion who are the very people bringing back both crucifixion and beheading.

This was prophesied almost four thousand years ago. Now we even have a president sympathetic to their cause. Not openly, God forbid. But actions speak far louder than words. If your ears are not tickled by his smooth speach you will know this to be true. Now that's not only politically incorrect to say but even treasonous to many. Can you tell I'm not tryin to make friends here. My passion is truth, GOD'S TRUTH, not man's opinion. Jesus said: "the TRUTH will set you free". I want freedom.

Then there is the issue of abortion (mass murder) that is not only condoned but encouraged by our government. And last but not least is the whole "homosexual" issue. This has now been embraced across the board not only by government officials and the general populace but even by those calling themselves Christian Leaders. (condemned liars)

Is there no end to this lunacy. Murder, greed, envy, sexual perversion, tyranny & political oppression, various addictions both legal and illegal to include both wild partying and even witchcraft are all practiced and condoned by what was once a God fearing government. Literally everything God has said "DONT DO" we both do and promote on a national level. REALLY? We don't stand a chance.

Now lest you extreme patriots get your panties in a bunch hear this. I served my country gladly and love America as it was originally founded. I also will give my life for anyone supporting "THAT" America; but not what we've become. The constitution is awesome but it is no longer our standard. Since Obama, there is no standard. He does what he wants when he wants the way he wants; sort of like GOD only less benevolent.

Know this before I go lest you think me a HATER with no love. I DO NOT hate any of the people listed earlier in this tract and can prove it. I learned long ago how to hate sin but love the sinner. I care for and am very close to several women who have had abortions. I've had many gay and lesbian friends and we currently have
