

WARNING

Understand this; anyone NOT enlisted in your army is NOT a comrade. They can be an acquaintance, a friend, even family; but they are not comrades unless they've enlisted. They may, and even should be, part of the overall mission. But understand their place lest you jeopardize your comrades or subvert a mission. Always follow the orders of your leader whether they make sense to you or not. He sees from a vantage point the overall war and knows what's best. He is the I AM. Unlike human leaders He does not, and can not, make any mistakes. I have learned this by way of some VERY VERY scary missions where everything in my flesh screamed "ERROR".

You see in today's society, even within some organized religious groups claiming to be "Christian" but are NOT, there is this misconception that God's Word is outdated, obsolete or no longer 100% applicable. How so you ask? For example, we now have gay churches, militant churches, racially segregated churches and even churches uniting with Islam. Then we have all these psychological disorders that didn't exist in Jesus' day. Really? Or did we just finally attach some "scientific" names to things once blamed on demonic activity or superstition. Let's say they didn't exist. Does that change anything God said? Nope, not even.

Truth is still truth and God is still God!

It says in Ro. 14:11 that "EVERY" knee shall bow and "EVERY" tongue confess and in Eph. 1:21-22 that every named that has ever been named and every "thing" that ever existed will be put under His feet. So ADHD, ADD, OCB, PTSD, HSDD, SAD, Schizophrenia, Paranoia, Anxiety disorders, Anorexia, Bulimia, (the list goes on) will all bow, be conquered by, and submit to Jesus; NAME above all NAMES!
Eph. 2:9-11

So, if you are HIS child you are by default also HIS soldier; act like one. II Timothy 2:4

The thoughts and ideas presented in this tract come from, and are supported by, scripture. They have also been experienced first hand by the author. They are not just random thoughts falling out of an empty head. Theology is useless if it cannot be known experientially. Miracles are for today in spite of all the skepticism both inside and outside of the church, and this person cares about your destiny. For some this is not new news, they FULLY understand this concept and are the victorious. They seem to be unaffected by the things surrounding them. You know, those weird illogical people saying the very opposite of what you see, hear and believe.

Many others have at least heard of this from various writers, speakers or thinkers far more accomplished than I. But I'm hoping to put a new spin on an ancient topic.

I will be drawing both from scripture and my personal experience. You see, even at this very moment, there is a war being waged in my own mind trying to distract me, attempting to keep me from writing this. This particular skirmish was already in process when I woke; for that's where many battles start. The enemy knows the advantage of striking when you're asleep or under the influence of some foreign substance. It's for this very reason that on the battlefield "guards" are assigned to keep watch through the night and why the use of drugs and alcohol carry such heavy penalties. Anyway...

Proverbs 23:7 starts out "For as a man thinks within himself, so he is." Although applied here to one man's envy and another man's greed it is plausible to apply in a much broader sense. Are you a victor or a victim?

Our mind, fashioned after our creator, is by far the most powerful thing in the universe second only to HIM who created it. If the enemy can seize this strategic ground he renders us useless to God and takes captive our soul.
